Dressage is an approach to the training of the horse.
This is not necessarily an end in itself, but rather a means to an end. The end is to produce a pleasant, relaxed horse;
a horse free of resistance, which is supple, in balance, and which, as a result, moves with a minimum amount of strain and effort under the weight of the rider over any terrain, and is easy to control.
This applies to all horses regardless of their jobs or discipline.
