Dear NODA Members,
May is here already and that means we are not far from our big July 22nd and 23rd Recognized Shows at Chagrin Valley Farms. This issue of the NODA News includes Sponsorship/Advertising information and forms for your convenience. This information is available online as well, at the NODA website www.nodarider.org. We hope you will help ensure the success of these shows with a sponsorship or ad for your business, participate as a competitor, or become a volunteer for the shows. Without the help of sponsors and advertisers we would not be able to host these shows.

A few changes are in the works for this year's show, most of which were prompted by comments from officials, competitors, and volunteers, along with everything we've learned from the last two years at the venue. Kevin Bradbury and BMCI will once be providing the managerial and secretarial services. The prize list will be posted soon.

Schooling Show Series: We have another wonderful schooling show series planned for 2017. Sally Burton, Kirstin Thomas, and our new schooling show secretary, Gwen Samuels, have been hard at work, so that everything is ready to go. We look forward to seeing many of you at Lake Erie College Equestrian Center on Sunday May 21st. Last year was great, and this year will be even more fun.

Junior and young rider free clinic: This is a final reminder that NODA is hosting a free clinic on May 20th, the day before the

Greetings from the President

NODA schooling show at LEC. Come in on Saturday afternoon and get a little practice in with professional Janeen Langowski-Grava. This is a rare and wonderful opportunity for free tune up session under the watchful eye of an experienced trainer and competitor. Go to the NODA website www.nodarider.org for the registration form, or contact Ashley Rand-Torres, NODA's Jr/YR liaison with any questions you may have at Jr-YR@nodarider.org. The application deadline is May 13th. If there is enough interest in this type of clinic we hope to offer more.

This month in the NODA News please take in the great article written by Jessica Harriman Austin about her experience at the April 12–13 Natalie Lamping Clinic held at Revolutions Dressage. Several NODA members rode in that clinic and I think you will enjoy reading about it. Jessica has an organized and clear writing style, and she also took some really nice photos. Read, enjoy, and learn!

We have a new Western Dressage year-end trophy thanks to Halle Clause and Barb Soukup. Halle recruited Barb to sponsor a new western dressage trophy for year-end awards. If you or someone you know wants to sponsor a year-end trophy for western dressage, please contact us. We currently have two trophies for western dressage, and it would be nice to have one or two more in the next year or two. Here is a little about the new award:

BaR S Western Dressage Versatility Trophy: Given by Barbara Soukup to the horse primarily trained and ridden by an amateur rider who best demonstrates that western dressage training benefits a horse in other western riding disciplines. Check out the prize list on the NODA website for the full description and requirements.

President's Letter

2017 Banquet news: We want to thank Shannon O'Hara who for the last three years volunteered to serve as NODA's Banquet Chair. Her experience and skill in negotiation and event planning were extremely valuable to NODA. Thank you so much. With Shannon stepping down, we welcome a new crew to plan and execute the 2017 Banquet. Sally Burton, Halle Clause, and Patty Keim have stepped up and are hard at work visiting venues and looking at formats for this year's event.

Thank you all for your responses to the recent banquet survey. Judging from the number of responses, it is an important subject for many of you. I think we can expect some changes to enhance the event, shorten the awards process, and improve the general experience for all in attendance.

I know, I know, you already have heard these, but they are important! So, as the NODA schooling show series is set to begin this month, please remember:

- New requirement for NODA schooling show championship – in addition to your qualifying scores, you (or a proxy approved prior to the event) must volunteer a minimum of 4 hours at a NODA schooling show. These volunteer hours can also be used for year-end awards.
- You must be a member of NODA at the time you earn any scores you want to use for the championship and/or year-end awards.

I hope everyone is looking forward to the show season as much as we are.

Happy Show Season,
Dee Liebenthal, President

Natalie Lamping Clinic — April 12-13, 2017

By Jessica Harriman Austin

I had the immense privilege of attending a clinic with Natalie Lamping at Revelations Dressage on April 12-13. Amidst her many witty epigrams was a vast store of knowledge including her background of jumping as well as dressage. I would like to share a summary of the lessons that I learned.

1. Timing of the aids – As riders move up the proverbial dressage ladder, the timing of aids becomes more important. Natalie mentioned that a top level trainer can make a green horse look good, not just because they know the aids so well, but because they know

Jessica Paine and Dado

when the horse is most able to comply and give the aids in that split second. One of her favorite examples was the walk to canter transition, and her reasoning was that the walk to canter eventually becomes a flying change. The jump is the same, it is just in the air rather than on the ground. She stressed asking for the canter transition when the outside front leg goes down. When doing downward transitions, Natalie said that a canter to walk transition you push into the downward transition, where in a canter to trot you half halt and wait so that the horse has a clear differentiation between the aids for the 2 different transitions. To help a horse that is having difficulty picking up a canter lead, she would have the rider post the wrong diagonal and then when they sat ask for the canter depart. She explained that this is because the time to ask for the canter is when the inside shoulder goes down. She always wanted the riders to wait until the horse felt ready for a transition in training, because “one good transition will get you another good transition. One bad transition will get you 10 more bad ones.”

2. Suppling – Natalie said she needed to stir the pot and make it smell sometimes to make things better. Yes, a rider can hold on the outside rein to prevent the outstde shoulder from bulging out, but in training we need to work to fix the cause of the shoulder bulging rather than just make it look better. A key component was that the horse needs to “learn to follow his face.” She also stressed that riding is about using the combination of aids that was appropriate to address what the horse’s body was doing at that moment. There is no one set of aids that will get the same result 100% of the time, you have to adjust continuously to keep the horse between the aids and in a box, not a rectangle. At one point when having a rider slow their horse down, she said make the horse use his muscles not his speed to get around the circle. When a horse was having difficulty bending to 1 side, Natalie said that “if I try to touch my toes right now I can’t. You can beat me with a stick and I still can’t.” Her point was that a little bit more stretch every day will add up to a lot, but you can’t force a horse to do something they are not physically capable of doing that day.
3. Connection – “Know when to give and when to hold. This is like poker.” Every horse has his own set of strengths and weaknesses, but a frequent theme was the need for better connection overall. One of her favorite images was to think of holding a handful of marbles and rolling them around in your palm without opening the fingers to move the bit in the horse’s mouth without pulling. Natalie often told the riders that their horses needed to “figure it out for themselves.” Rather than constantly fiddling to try to get the head/neck down, Natalie would have the rider halt and hold a steady contact like side reins and just give the horse time to soften and give. She also pointed out the need for steadiness and a feel of both sides of the horse’s mouth continuously rather than a loop in the reins and a sudden take that jars the horse. She wanted the horse to move like an “even stream of toothpaste, not a glob here or a glob there.” At the canter, she said “don’t go row, row, row your boat with your hands. It’s not the walk!” When a horse was having particular difficulty with a steady acceptance of the contact, Natalie pointed out that yes we all want to say that a horse needs to move from the hind end, but “if the horse isn’t good in the mouth it doesn’t get to the hind leg.”

By Jessica Harriman Austin

4. Whenever a rider's arms would straighten she would remind them to keep their elbows bent so that there was a straight line from elbow to bit. Her reasoning was that if you straighten your arms you let go of the contact and they can pull you forward. If your elbows are straight they are pulling against your seat and core. She also emphasized the need to keep the outside rein when bending to the inside. She likened this to how your arm muscles work, without opposing muscle groups your arm would just fall.
5. A Toolbox – Natalie asked each rider what they wanted to work on that day. While addressing each issue, Natalie had many different exercises and ways of presenting a movement to the horse and rider. She would try different methods until she found one that really clicked with that horse/rider combination. She said that each method works, but not with every horse or rider. She never became discouraged or said that the horse/rider wasn't capable, she simply kept trying different ways until she found what worked. I was reminded of the saying that if you do the same thing every time you will get the same results. In order to improve and progress you need to be willing to try different ideas. "When your horse makes a mistake, don't get after him. He will start to anticipate that you are going to get after him. Just repeat the exercise." She also said to make sure you use the aid that is applicable to what needs done at that time.
6. The Seat – Natalie believes that most riders overdrive with their seat without realizing what they are doing. When bringing the horse back after a lengthening, if you brace with your back and legs you are inadvertently driving the horse forward. Instead she had the riders think soft from the waist down and go into a shoulder-fore position so that they could bring the horse back without pulling on the reins. She also said do not use the seat when the hind legs are not under the horse because you will just cause him to hollow his back. She pointed out that many top riders post the trot, even in passage because it allows their horses to bring their backs up.
7. The Legs – Quiet legs were considered very important. How can a horse ignore your leg sometimes and consider them an aid other times? In addition, when wearing spurs, make sure your horse will move expediently off your quiet leg aid without the spur or you make him dull to your quiet aids.
8. Bend – Natalie stressed the importance of having an inside leg for the horse to bend around. At one point when a rider thought she was using an aid but there was no difference in the horse, Natalie said that an aid only works if you get a response. She had a couple of riders do squiggly lines between the track and the quarter line to work on getting an equal bend both directions. She emphasized not letting the horse just fall into the new direction, support with the inside leg. If they didn't get enough bend she had them add in a small circle in that direction before continuing on their squiggly line.
9. Wait for the Rider – Several of the riders worked on their turn on the haunches. This was an opportunity for Natalie to teach the riders to make the horse soft and supple and waiting for their aid to turn. The horses would often figure out the exercise and as soon as they began bending in preparation for the turn the horse would step into the turn.

And do not nag every step of the walk. "Put him on cruise control." The leg aids were extremely important in controlling how far sideways a horse moved in leg yield, turn on the haunches, pirouettes, etc. Several times she also had the rider slide their leg a little forward to aid the shoulder specifically to move it over, or ask for more lift from the shoulder. She said that the horse is most sensitive near the girth, too far behind and they are less sensitive and behind that they are just irritated by your aid. She wanted the riders to think of themselves as a wetsuit around the horse so that their legs were around the barrel and quiet.

Shannon O'Hara and Udor

10. Finish Each Exercise – Natalie pointed out that if you don't completely finish your half circle onto centerline before starting a shoulder-in, then what you believe is your shoulder-in is actually just straightening the horse. Or if you don't finish your half circle before starting a half pass, you will end up with the haunches leading. You must finish the exercise you are doing before starting the next or you end up with 2 mistakes.
11. Lengthenings and Extensions – Natalie said "don't be the rabbit in Alice in Wonderland and say I'm late, I'm late." She said ride collected in front and extended behind to keep the extension slower. This was another example of where she would have the rider slide their leg a little forward to give an aid to get the horse freer in the shoulder and increase their reach.
12. Exercises – One of Natalie's go-to exercises with a greener horse was to do a trot half circle at S, and before you are quite parallel with the wall transition to walk and immediately leg yield towards R. As the horse improves you can gradually increase the angle, but if the horse gets stuck ride them immediately on a diagonal towards your goal so that they are moving forward and then again ask for the sideways steps.
13. Attitude – Natalie said that you absolutely must follow through with your aids even if you are afraid and say we WILL do this. If you get wishy washy then the horse knows how to evade. In addition when you ask for something, always follow-through until completion even if your aid is light you must still be there or the horse may not fully comply. For example in the walk to canter transition, if you give up halfway through the transition the horse may just trot instead of canter. To one rider, Natalie's advice was to "ride him like you're trying to sell him to me, not like you're trying to bring the price down."
14. Balance – Achieving a more balanced canter was a goal for some of the riders. Natalie pointed out that if the horse is not balanced and you chase him around to avoid him breaking out of the canter he will eventually break anyway because you have chased him onto his forehand. Instead, balance him back in a sort of "collection" so that he can stay in the canter. "Making him go fast will not make him go forward." When you touch the inside rein make sure that the inside leg is there to support or he will break out of the canter. When he wants to break, add more leg and "fluff him up." She told one rider to keep their horse upright on both sets of legs so that he was tracking straight and not leaning around the turns like a motorcycle.
15. Riding a Test – From a judge's perspective, Natalie said always enter the ring on whichever canter lead the horse is straightest on. And do NOT go around A before entering, plan your half circle so that you go in front of A and enter on a straight line. The halt is worth 10 points and does not require a fancy mover, so everyone can practice their halts and aspire to achieve 10's. She highly recommended reading the directives of a test before you consider showing that test.
16. Emotions – Natalie said to be cautious of your emotions, one moment of frustration can undo all your previous work. She recommended being more in tune with the horse and before he falls apart, do something to improve his balance rather than waiting until it is too late. She also pointed out that when a toddler is learning to walk, they will fall down many times. If they become discouraged at that point they will never learn to walk. Learning to ride is the same, the only way to get better is to pick yourself up and continue trying.
17. Summary – I believe this one saying summed up the vast majority of what the riders worked on. "When he pulls you don't give. When he gives you don't pull." If I take nothing else away from this clinic, that is advice worth remembering forever.

Sue Hughes Clinic Report

By Halle Clause

Northern Ohio Dressage Association (NODA) has started the new riding year out right with a bang by sponsoring a classical and western dressage clinic on March 25, and a ride-a-test on March 26, 2017. The clinic was held at the beautiful Chagrin Valley Farms.

Sue Hughes is a very accomplished dressage judge. She has a USEF "R" dressage card, USEF/WDAA Western dressage "R", USDF L graduate, and retired event judge. She is also a level 3 Centered Riding instructor. Sue is also the VP of the Michigan chapter of the WDAA. Sue was also chosen to judge the 2016 WDAA World Championship Show. She will be judging the 2017 Ohio State Fair dressage show and NODA's 2017 Schooling Show Championship this October.

The clinic started out with a Western dressage demonstration featuring NODA members Judy Jacobson on her painted walking horse, Modige and myself on my half Arabian paint gelding, Master the Art. Sue had us show the correct gaits that are required for western dressage, and how to get both of our horses to work over their backs and in front of our leg. Sue explained the correct rules for western dressage and tack. She also had many stories to tell about judging the WDAA championship and the different classes that were offered such as the rail classes. The auditors enjoyed all of the WDAA hand outs she brought with her. Sue Hughes is such a wealth of knowledge.

The rest of the day had 13 lessons. There was Western dressage lessons with NODA member, Niki Sackman and Samantha Terry from Columbus. The youth riders, Evelyn Tyner and Katharine Delorean had a great lesson and left with slots of home work. There were group lessons with Allison Morris, Susan Fogarty, Seana Fortune, Maria T

Temperini, Noell Sivertsen, Mila Sambunjak, and Sue Hines. Everyone had a great time using Sue's tips to get their mounts in front of their legs and improving the swing in the back. Wendy Gruskiewicz rode her beautiful Riften.

It was amazing to see how different tips changed how he carried and used his neck. The last rider was Lindsey Sheppard. She is Samantha Terry's student from Columbus. Lindsey rode western sidesaddle! Lindsey had a great lesson and showed how to bend on both sides of her horse. Look for Lindsey to be showing sidesaddle all season. She evens plans to do some eventing that way too!

The Ride a Test on Sunday was again a very busy day for everyone. This as the first competition for many riders this season. NODA schooling show officials Sally Burton and Gwendolyn Samuels used this day as practice for the 2017 schooling season. The volunteers were Elizabeth Bodnovich, Danielle Bolm, Gale Browning, Lynn Fry, Kathy Kirchner, Lesley Matt, Diana Shale, Jana Tuckerman, Lara Young, and Deb Winkler.

The Ride a Test had 18 ride times that ranged from western dressage, event and many levels of classical dressage. The riders rode their first test in front of Sue then came forward for comments on the test. Sue gave each rider the option to ride the test again or a mini 10 minute lesson. Many of the riders took advantage of this wonderful offer.

By Halle Clause

The Ride a test was a great way to see the new and old members with their horses. NODA members Sally Burton and Sarah Freeman had great rides. Lindsey Sheppard rode both of her western dressage tests sidesaddle to practice for the 4-H season. The weekend was very busy and educational for everyone.

I want to thank Sue Hughes for spending so much time with everyone over the weekend. She answered many questions and gave great advice to everyone. I would like to thank Dee Liebenthal, Marcia Doyle, Fran Cverna, and Linda Cooley for all the help making this weekend a such a great success. I also want to thank NODA's new friends from Columbus: Samantha Terry, Lindsey Sheppard and Thallia Bright. My role at NODA as the western dressage liaison, is to promote western dressage to everyone.

It is a growing part of our club and sport. If I can help in any way, let me know. Feel free to contact me any time.

Attention NODA members: Do you show a Thoroughbred?

For the second year in a row - NODA will be offering Jockey Club TB Incentive awards at all of its schooling shows, with a special prize at the schooling show championships!

NEW THIS YEAR - NODA will also have cash prizes at the Recognized Show and Dressage Encore show on July 22 & 23, 2017 at Chagrin Valley Farms for the high point TB in Training Level; First Level; Second-Fourth Level; and even the FEI level!

This is a wonderful program offered for owners and riders of off the track thoroughbreds through the Jockey Club. Horses pay no fee to be eligible, and the classes carry no extra cost to enter. You must go to www.tjctip.com to apply for your Thoroughbred Incentive Program number, and be sure to include it on your entry. The JC TIP program also offers year end awards through submission of your show record for the year on their website. If any questions, please contact April-Editor@nodarider.org.

Home of the:

Dear Friends,

The Northern Ohio Dressage Association (NODA), with a membership of more than 300, has organized and hosted annual Recognized horse shows in our area since 1988. This year our shows, Dressage 2017 and Dressage Encore 2017, will be held on July 22 and 23 at Chagrin Valley Farms in Chagrin Falls, Ohio. We know that the success of these shows is the direct result of generous support from sponsors, patrons, advertisers, and competitors. We invite you to join with us for this exciting weekend.

Dressage 2017 and Dressage Encore 2017 competitions are licensed and recognized by the United States Equestrian Federation and the United States Dressage Federation, and bring out a large crowd as competitors and spectators arrive from Ohio, New York, Michigan, and Pennsylvania. For many, the highlight of the weekend is the fabulous Saturday evening Musical Freestyles rides accompanied by the Annual Competitors' Party. NODA's membership includes dedicated and talented top equestrian professionals' national and international competitors in the dressage arena; up and coming young riders;; Para Equestrians;; and Adult Amateurs. A leader in dressage and equestrian values in the Midwest, NODA's Dressage 2017 and Dressage Encore 2017 offer an excellent opportunity for you to support equestrian education and competition while getting your message out to our membership and constituents by use of our dynamic award-winning website, and monthly NODA News.

NODA offers sponsorship and advertising opportunities at all levels to meet your unique needs as an individual or organization. An affordable class sponsorship allows an individual or small business to sponsor a class in your own name, your barn's name, or in honor or memory of a beloved horse or friend. Or consider NODA's Gold, Silver, or Bronze sponsorships, which provide packaged and ongoing high visibility as they reach NODA's membership and other horse enthusiasts long after the competition is over. Do you know an individual or business that may have an interest in sponsoring or advertising with NODA? Your help in sharing this letter with people with whom you regularly do business, and asking for their support, would be greatly appreciated.

The Advertising and Sponsorship form is attached. We count on your support to sustain NODA's growth and make our recognized shows bigger and better each year. Your support also helps provide much needed funds for educational events and scholarships that benefit all members of our organization.

Thank you for your efforts in continuing to help NODA grow!

Please contact us with any questions. Christine Thompson at (440) 590-1598 or VP@nodarider.org or Regina Sacha-Ujczko at (216) 390-3702 or Sponsors@nodarider.org

CERAMIC THERAPY lux

How it Works

The body radiates heat. Ceramic fibers in Lux™ have the unique ability to absorb, modify and emit this heat back into the body as Far Infrared Rays. "FIR" penetrates deep into body tissue to expand blood vessels and increase circulation. Increased blood flow allows the body to deliver oxygen to working or recovering muscles and repair damage more efficiently.

Schooling Show Update

By Sally Burton

It is now officially schooling show season! By the time you receive this newsletter entries will have opened for our Lake Erie NODA Show and hopefully we will have a full show.

A few things to remember: Please DO NOT send your entry until the OPEN date- any entry sent early will be returned to you. Your entry must be postmarked on the open date or later. We will close out the show at 70 entries. Entries received after the close date will be put on a wait list. We will contact you if a spot becomes open. Also, please let us know immediately if you realize you cannot compete so we can give someone on the wait list your spot. Entries must be received by the CLOSE DATE, not postmarked, but actually received.

We want you to be able to compete in the class of your choice. We will be scheduling some Prix Caprilli classes at the Lake Erie Show. If you are interested in other classes (pas de deux, anyone?), let us know in advance so we can plan for it! The headline class returns with guest judges and individual patterns. Stay tuned for more information.

We always do our best to run a safe, fun, efficient show. Please make sure to read the SHOW NOTES that are posted with ride times. These notes include times and locations to lunge your horse, warm up, availability of concessions and any particulars for the venue that you might not know.

Volunteers! We cannot stress this enough and I know it is annoying- but we love our volunteers and without your help we could not run a show. Also remember that to ride in the Championship Show (once you qualify), you also need to have volunteered at a schooling show. We keep records of who volunteered. Save your NODA bucks for awards, but make sure you volunteer at a schooling show. Please follow NODA on facebook, check out the nodarider.org website (best viewed on Mozilla or internet explorer) and pay attention to NewsBlasts from our hard working webmaster for up to date information!

See you in the ring!

NODA has a New Dressage Ring!

Thanks to generous donations from Betsy Rebar Sell of Shade Tree Farm and Kristen Stein of Stein Equine, NODA has a new dressage ring for the start of the 2017! We are so grateful!

All the generous NODA member donations for the dressage ring allowed for the purchase of much needed accessories for our dressage rings. Thank you very much for your continued support of Northern Ohio Dressage Association. We appreciate all the members who helped in this fund raising effort.

Competitors and show volunteers will enjoy the benefits of this beautiful, light-weight, and portable dressage ring this year and for many years to come.

Northern Ohio Dressage Association
2017 Membership Form

NODA membership runs
12/1/2016 through 11/30/2017

NODA is a United States Dressage Federation Group Member Organization

A portion of your NODA membership dues go towards your group membership in USDF. A USDF Group Membership (GM) makes you eligible for USDF Rider Awards. Group Members may participate in recognized shows without the payment of USDF non-member fees, are eligible to earn university credits, receive member discount rates for USDF events, and receive the USDF Connection magazine. (Supporting Family members do not receive a subscription to the USDF Connection – one magazine per family.) See www.nodarider.org or www.usdf.org for eligibility to qualify for USDF regional and national championships. Note that Participating Membership in USDF is needed to compete in USDF Regional Championships.
